Women

Bechdel test

- The Bechdel test is a test made to see how female characters are represented in movies.
  It has three requirements to pass
- the film has to have at least two women in it
- those women need to talk to each other
- that conversation needs to be about something other than a man.

Production process